Fire Reported Before Plunge

CAIRO (AP)—A Pakistani jetliner inaugurating Karachi-to-London service crashed in desolate desert sands near Cairo Airport today, killing 120 of the 126 persons aboard.

It was the fifth worst air crash in aviation history.

Airline officials said one or more Americans perished in the flaming crash. Identification was not immediately available.

The airline said that of the 115 passengers, 93 were listed as Pakistanis, 12 Chinese and 10 other foreigners, whose nationalities were listed as U. S., Canadian, Lebanese and Egyptian.

The American-built jetliner's 11 crewmen died in the crash.

All six survivors were Pakistanis. Two were employees of the Pakistan International Airline and another was a Pakistani tourist official. Three of the men were reported in critical condition.

The flight was scheduled to pick up 32 additional passengers, all guests of the airline, at Cairo for the remainder of the flight to Geneva and London.

Capt. Akhtar Aly Khan, pilot of the four engine jet, reported engine trouble and a fire in the landing gear minutes before the crash.

The plane, a Boeing 720B, was inaugurating the airline's new Karachi to London route. Among the passengers were 62 newsmen, airline officials and other invited guests. The same plane had made three preinaugural flights over the route.

The big jet ploughed into a sand hill in a heavy ground fog as it prepared to make its final approach to the Cairo Airport. It crashed at 2:50 a.m. A West German airliner first sighted the wreckage, and Egyptian air force helicopters landed at the wreckage at dawn to pick up the six survivors.

Nearly impassable terrain delayed the arrival of other rescuers until six hours after the crash.

"There were no more survivors except for two baboons still alive beneath the wreckage," one person at the scene reported.

"It all happened so fast I didn't know what was going on," said one of the survivors, Galal Alkarmi, an employee of the airline.

"One minute I was sitting inside the plane with a safety belt fastened around my waist. The next thing I remember was hearing an explosion. When I came to, I found myself lying outside the wreckage."

"It was a horrible sight," said one of the rescue party, "an area of two square kilometers littered with what was left of the plane's wreckage, mutilated bodies, passenger bags, cameras and cigarette cases."

Bank Robbery Losses Listed At $14,550

IONIA, Mo. (AP)—The loss in the burglary of the Bank of Ionia last Thursday was announced today as $14,550.

Burglars broke into the bank in this Benton County town and burned a hole in the side of a safe, which contained most of the bank's operating cash. They also entered a vault, but obtained nothing.

President Jack Wells said after the burglary that the loss was "a sizable amount for a bank in this size town," but did not announce the loss until today.

Ionia is a town of about 150 people.

Leaflets Warning To Cong

'More Disastrous Consequences' If Actions Continue

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U. S. Air Force planes flew within 55 miles of Hanoi today and dropped half a million leaflets warning the Communists to halt aggression in South Viet Nam or "bear more disastrous consequences," a U. S. military spokesman said.

On the ground, the Viet Cong fired a short mortar barrage into a U. S. Marine patrol 15 miles southwest of Da Nang, killing one Marine and wounding two others. The Marines reported their return fire killed at least two guerrillas.

"If the Vietnamese Communists are stubborn in their aggression and sabotage in South Viet Nam, they will bear more disastrous consequences," the leaflets said.

"Our brothers in the army of North Viet Nam, don't let the Chinese and Vietnamese Communists use your bones and blood to wage a fratricidal war in South Viet Nam."

The spokesman said 25 F105 Thunderchiefs dropped the leaflets over Ninh Binh and then attacked a radar station on Hon Mat Island 135 miles southeast of Hanoi.

Tipton Man Knocked Unconscious While Atop Light Pole

A Tipton man, E. C. (Ted) Byrd, 60, was knocked unconscious apparently by an electric shock while atop a pole at 2 p. m. Wednesday in south Tipton near Miller Motors on Highway 50.

Byrd, a maintenance supervisor for the Missouri Utilities Company, was changing a street light when the accident occurred and it was not known exactly what happened.

A safety belt held him to the pole and he was brought to the ground by United Telephone Company workmen nearby. After emergency treatment by Dr. C. F. Luebbert, Byrd was taken to Charles E. Still Hospital, Jefferson City, for observation. He had regained consciousness and his injury was not believed too serious.

Claim Dominican Control

Rebel Surrender Demand by Junta

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The Dominican junta claimed "absolute control" of the country Wednesday night and called for unconditional surrender of the rebels.

"We have absolute control of the Dominican Republic," the junta president, Brig. Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera, told a rally of about 1,000 cheering middle-and upper-class followers inside the U.S.-occupied international zone of Santo Domingo.

"We don't want a truce. Out with communism," the crowd shouted.

Imbert spoke from a balcony at his headquarters in the Congressional Palace shortly after junta troops overran the rebel radio station and rebel resistance in northern Santo Domingo collapsed.

Imbert told an interviewer he would not consider any compromise with the rebel force of Col. Francisco Caamano Dengo. He said his five-man junta would only discuss unconditional surrender of the insurgents, whose main force is holed up in downtown Santo Domingo inside the U.S.-controlled areas.

Caamano has also refused to meet with Imbert, contending that any compromise with the junta would violate rebel demands for a return to the 1963 constitution.

However, a spokesman for the U.N. peace mission said both the junta and the rebels have agreed in principle to a 12-hour cease-fire Friday to let the Red Cross remove dead and wounded from the fighting zone. The spokesman added that detailed agreements with each side still must be worked out.

Shooting tapered off Wednesday night, but there apparently were rebel holdouts in the northern area. Imbert told a newsman the battle would be over by the weekend.

The Weather

The temperature one year ago today was, high 88, low 68; two years ago, high 71, low 45; three years ago, high 89, low 61.

Minuteman Missile System To Be Brought Up To Date

Plan To Replace 800 Missiles In Program

The Air Force has announced its plans to replace 800 of its Minuteman I Intercontinental Ballistic Missiles with the larger, more powerful Minuteman II models in a program known as "Minuteman Force Modernization." The Whiteman AFB Complex will be the first to be modified.

Brigadier General Harry J. Sands, Jr., Commander of the Ballistic Systems Division of the Air Force Systems Command at Norton Air Force Base, California, who will direct the modernization programs said: "Minuteman has proved to be our most reliable and advanced ICBM. Since Minuteman constitutes the backbone of our deterrent missile force, it is logical that we should protect this sizable investment in our nation's defenses by updating and modernizing. Minuteman II will give us improved range, greater payload, more flexible targeting and greater accuracy, without the cost of developing an entirely new weapons system."

'Tag' Game Blamed In Fatal Mishap

A childhood game of tag while on the way home from school resulted in Sedalia's third traffic fatality of the year—the pedestrian death of Cheryl Lynn Smith, 8, 508 East 19th, at 16th and Ingram the afternoon of April 27, it was brought out Thursday morning in testimony in city Police Court.

Barbara Ann Mitchell, 1501 South Ohio, testified she was on her way to work at Resthaven Nursing Home and crossed the street a few feet behind Cheryl, her sister and another child. In the midst of a tag game, Cheryl darted back into the street after having safely reached the opposite side, Miss Mitchell told the court.

After the hearing, Judge Lawrence England ruled the mishap unavoidable and dismissed a charge of careless and imprudent driving against David Edward Miller, 26, 1619 Wagner, the driver of a Pepsi-Cola Bottling Company truck involved.

Also testifying at the hearing were two other eye-witnesses, Stan Gunter, 2506 West 32nd, and Charles Cline, 616 South Barrett, and the investigating police officer, Patrolman Clyde Nicewarner.

Witnesses said the truck had slowed for the intersection and was traveling at approximately 10 to 20 m.p.h.

Missile Base Manager Is R. M. Severide

Robert M. Severide has been named Boeing base manager for the Minuteman modernization program at Whiteman Air Force Base. The Air Force announced this week that the 150-missile Minuteman wing centered at Whiteman has been selected as the first to be modified to the improved Minuteman II intercontinental ballistic missile system under a new $1 billion program.

Severide served as base manager during the original assembly and checkout of the Missouri missile complex. Announcement of his scheduled return to Missouri has been made by Cecil H. Day, Boeing Minuteman Field Operations Manager.

Severide, whose career with Boeing spans 22 years, was named manager of Boeing Company operations at Whiteman in July, 1961. Boeing is weapon system integrator for Minuteman. Prior to the Whiteman assignment, he was general superintendent of Boeing Minuteman test operations at Cape Kennedy, Florida and Edwards Air Force Base, California.

Since delivery of the Whiteman-centered fourth wing to the Air Force in May, 1964, Severide has been associated with the mobile lunar laboratory project (Molab) at Boeing.

Other field operations work included assignments at the Moses Lake Flight Center, Moses Lake, Washington, during the B-52 program, and at Tucson, Arizona, in connection with modification of B-47 bombers.

Born in Fargo, N. D., Severide moved to Seattle where he attended Ballard High School. He and his wife, Louise have two children.

Store Roof Falls; 23 Hurt

NEW YORK (AP)—"All of a sudden, it was like a bomb fell down," says the meat-section manager who was serving customers when the roof of a Brooklyn supermarket collapsed and rained tons of concrete slabs and plaster debris onto customers and clerks.

The manager, Sam Kinker, 61, and his four women customers fled through one of the broken windows.

Twenty-three persons — mostly women shoppers — were injured. Most of them were treated at hospitals. Four were admitted.

Police, firemen and residents of the neighborhood pulled several victims out from under chunks of concrete.

"It's a miracle no one was killed," Fire Commissioner Martin Scott said after inspecting the ruins of the Food Queen Supermarket in the Bensonhurst section Wednesday.

Mary Rossi, a shopkeeper on the other side of the street, said: "My God, it was awful. I was standing in front of my store when the roof seemed to blow up right in front of me."

"The windows blew into the street and women and children ran out."

none was seriously injured. Police said a preliminary investigation showed that no blast occurred and the cause of the collapse was not known. (UPI Telephoto)

In Red China

Industrial Shortcomings Too Great To Be Hidden

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the second of two dispatches by a Canadian reporter who visited 11 industrial establishments in China. The first story described three plants he judged to be good, and four that seemed indifferent. Today he tells of four he considered bad. The writer is the chief of news services for the Southern Newspapers of Canada.

By CHARLES LYNCH

PEKING (AP) — The shortcomings of much of the new industry of China are too apparent to be concealed, and little effort is made here to conceal them, or to pretend that things are going better than they are.

Much of the industry, especially the heavy stuff, dates back less than 16 years, and was built on an economy that was bankrupt or ruined.

Another factor is that the industry of Red China owes as much to the Soviet Union as the industry of today's Canada owes to the United States. The effect of the Soviet withdrawal in the late 1950s was just as numbing as it would be for U.S. capital and technology to pull abruptly out of Canada.

The numbness still is there, though the proud Chinese try to conceal it and to convince themselves that native genius can prevail over the lack of contact with the industrial world outside.

Would Stop Passenger Car Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee has taken a long step beyond President Johnson's request and voted to repeal entirely the excise tax on passenger automobiles over the next four years.

The four major auto companies promptly announced they would pass any tax cuts on to buyers, which would mean an eventual price reduction on an average car of about $230. The present excise tax on cars is 10 per cent, and Johnson asked that it be cut to 5 per cent.

Tuesday's Ways and Means Committee action — if upheld by Congress — would bring the eventual revenue reduction to nearly $5 billion. $900 million more than Johnson had recommended in a special message to Congress Monday. The cut in the first year would be about the $1.75 billion urged by the President.

Swift congressional approval of excise tax cuts seems assured.

The House probably will vote on the measure the week of May 31, if leaders carry out present plans.

In the Senate, Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., said the Finance Committee hopes to take up the bill right after the House acts and will hear only one witness — Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler. Sen. Byrd said all potential witnesses favor the cuts.

The unusual speed is designed in large part to head off any slump in buying the many goods on which taxes would be eliminated July 1.

Following Johnson's recommendation, the House committee provided procedures by which people who bought autos or air conditioners before July 1 could get refunds.

In addition to these two items, a long list of goods, taxed for the most part at 10 per cent, would become tax free July 1 if the legislation is enacted by then.

They include jewelry, furs, toilet preparations, luggage and handbags.

Taxes at the manufacturer's level would be lifted from television, radio and phonographic sets, cameras, musical instruments, sporting goods except for fishing equipment, refrigerators, freezers, air conditioners, power lawnmowers and electric, gas and oil appliances.

Lacking access to the global treasure chest of 20th century technology, China has been trying to evolve her own, on the theory that if the workers put their heads together, they can come up with answers.

In many cases the answers inevitably are negative. This can be said without casting any slur on the Chinese engineers or workers who were charged with the impossible task of crowding 100 years of technological development into a decade, and who lost their teachers in the midst of the tooling-up process.

Among plants I have seen, the negative results were most apparent at an automobile factory in Changchun, a railway car factory in the same city, a heavy machinery factory in Shenyang, and the electrical machinery plant in Harbin.

The No. 1 automobile factory in Changchun probably is the most-photographed plant in China — it was built with photography in mind, as a symbol of industry as industry should look.

The first flaw is that the factory doesn't produce automobiles. Several years ago, it turned out limousines by a process of hand assembly. These were christened "Red Flag" and are used to this day by government dignitaries and on state occasions.

The part of the factory where the Red Flag was made is closed down — for expansion, it is explained. My interest in this incongruous vehicle — it is hard to imagine a car that China needs less — was such that they wheeled one around for me to ride in. It had been assembled in 1958.

I was driven to this factory, as I have been in every where I have been, in a little Polish-made sedan — sometimes it is Soviet-made — and I asked why the factory had not gone in for this practical type of vehicles. I received no more satisfactory answer than that such decisions are made by the state, and not to be questioned at factory level. Besides, they said somewhat defensively, they were experimenting along those lines.

What they are actually producing, and in limited numbers, is the same truck the factory was tooled up to produce nine years ago. This "Liberation" truck is khaki for the army, or green for limited use in the civilian economy. It looks like a North American truck of immediate postwar vintage, and comes in a basic four-ton model, which can be made into an eight-ton version by tacking on a trailer.

The motor is a six-cylinder, 95-horsepower, L-head job, burning low-grade gasoline.

The factory uses 23,000 workers to produce this truck, and claims to turn out 50 per eight-hour shift. At two shifts a day they make 30,000 trucks a year — a drop in the bucket in relation to China's need for work vehicles.

When American author Edgar Snow visited the plant in 1960, he was told that management aimed to increase output to 150,000 in 1961-62. But production remains right where it was in 1960. The plant is doing exactly what the Russians designed and built it to do — no more, no less.

On the road outside the plant the traffic consists largely of aging rickshaw-pullers, bending to their loads. Not only are cars a rarity in China, but trucks are too — and the reason can be found at the Changchun factory.

The assembly line is a production engineer's nightmare.

Gear boxes come off faster than engines. Wheels come along in vast profusion and have to be kept circling like jets over an airport on a foggy day. At some points, the assembly line stops altogether. At no point does it move more than three feet a minute.

In 1956, 81 per cent of the materials in the truck were imported, largely from the Soviet Union. Now, the content is 100 per cent Chinese — but the truck is the same.

riage factory, with 4,300 workers, was designed to turn out 1,600 passenger cars a year. Today, the production is less than one car a day, and it is clear that this attractive plant opened six years ago has been backsliding.

Morale, according to the management, is high — and there are plans to treble the work force. But those plans, like everything else in this factory, date back to 1959.

At the Shenyang heavy machinery factory, the methods being followed seemed slipshod in the extreme, both in the foundry and in the pressing and machining ends of the business. Again, it was a case of workers going through the motions.

More than 100 big machines, including hydraulic presses of up to 6,000 tons capacity, are said to be produced yearly. They must do it in sudden spurts.

The picture was only slightly better at the Harbin electric machinery factory, where they make hydraulic power generators, hydraulic turbines, and steam generators for both alternating and direct current.

This, too, is a low-volume operation. Production began in 1952 with generators of 800 kilowatts capacity, and now they are up to generators of 100,000 kilowatts capacity. Generators have been exported to Korea, North-Viet Nam and Albania.

Some of the heavy machinery is Russian, some British.

This is a highly specialized industry, and it might be said, in view of China's limited experience in the field, that the miracle is that it is being done at all. But with the tools at hand, and with China's crying need for power, and with Chinese ingenuity manifest as it is in other directions, the factory cannot be said to be pulling its weight.

All of which is submitted, as objectively as I know how, in response to the invitation to criticize, which was put to me at every factory I visited.

One is left to wonder, in an economy that is entirely state-run, how many of the facts find their way back to the administration level in Peking, where the accounts are kept and the big decisions — and most of the small ones — are made.

Of course there may be a missing part in the puzzle of Chinese industry. Somewhere, in unseen defense establishments, Chinese industrial genius may be blossoming — but I doubt it.

Has Plans To Bring Rights Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has announced plans to cut through talk on the voting-rights bill and put it to a vote.

The showdown on his drive for cloture — a strict limit on debate — will come next Tuesday, in the fifth week of Senate consideration of the administration-backed measure.

Joined by Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, his partner in planning strategy on the bill, Mansfield will file a debate-limitation petition Friday. In the interim, he will be trying to round up the votes required for cloture — two-thirds of the senators voting on Tuesday.

If Mansfield succeeds, senators will be limited to an hour's speaking time each on the bill and all its amendments.

The Montanan announced his plans Wednesday after he tried — and failed — to get the Senate to agree to limit debate on each remaining amendment to one hour and to vote on the measure Tuesday afternoon.

Mansfield was blocked by Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., acting for Southern senators who contend the bill would strip states of their constitutional right to fix qualifications for voters.

Under the bill, literacy tests would be suspended in wide areas of the South and the federal government could appoint examiners to register voters.

Mansfield said he didn't know if he could get a two-thirds majority, but he said he thought the Senate had had the bill long enough. It got to the floor April 22.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, told reporters it would have been impossible to limit debate last week or this.

Hickenlooper declined to predict how he thinks the cloture effort will turn out next week. He described himself as not committed, but said he guesses he probably will vote to cut off debate.

If he does, the debate-limitation petition seems likely to succeed. Hickenlooper has voted with the South on some key amendments. He also has said the bill seems "completely unconstitutional."

The Senate Wednesday adopted two amendments that will strengthen the bill.

One, offered by Mansfield and Dirksen and approved by a 69-20 vote, wrote into it a declaration that the right to vote is denied or abridged in certain states by requiring poll-tax payments. It was designed to help the attorney general in court tests he is directed to make of the constitutionality of the levies for state and local elections.

The other amendment, offered by Sen. Hiram L. Fong, R-Hawaii, authorizes the attorney general to assign poll watchers in states or counties where federal examiners have been appointed to register voters. It was adopted by a 56-25 vote.

Poll taxes have been outlawed for federal elections by constitutional amendment. But four

No Pressure. On Hardwicke, Hearnese Says

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnese confirmed that Dr. Henry M. Hardwicke has resigned as director of the Missouri Division of Health, but he denied that he put pressure on Hardwicke to quit.

"The first time I knew of Dr. Hardwicke's resignation was when he walked in and handed it to me," the governor said. "That's been some time ago. It wasn't effective until June 1 anyway."

Hearnese made his comment after the St. Louis Globe-Democrat said in its Thursday edition that the governor told Dr. Hardwicke several months ago that he was through.

The governor said if he had wanted to force Hardwicke's resignation he would have made no secret of it.

He said the resignation was not announced immediately because he wanted time to find a successor before he was flooded with applicants.

Dr. Hardwicke declined to comment when he was asked about the Globe-Democrat's report.

The newspaper said the governor's office had expected to make an announcement as if it were a routine resignation and attribute it to Dr. Hardwicke's desire to resume private practice.

It said that Dr. Hardwicke incurred disfavor because of some critical statements he made about the Dunklin County Health Center and that some Missouri legislators consider him non-cooperative.

Students Not Taken In By Ideology

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—About a dozen members of the Missouri General Assembly, each with a white carnation in his lapel, were among the 500 who packed an auditorium at the University of Missouri Wednesday night for a talk by a communist leader.

"I was happily surprised that the students seemed not to be taken in by any particular ideology that was presented for the forum," said Rep. Earl Bollinger of Festus.

The speaker was Claude Lightfoot, former vice chairman of the Communist Party's national committee for the United States.

His appearance was sponsored by the New Fabians, a campus discussion group. The 500 in the audience included students, faculty members and townspeople.

Steve Fuchs of St. Louis, president of the New Fabians, said his organization sponsored picketing demonstrations which led the university to change some of its regulations on student housing. He said the regulations embodied racial discrimination.

"Next year, we'll really change things around," he told the crowd. "Lightfoot speaking here proves a point — if you want something bad enough, you can get it."

Faculty sponsor of the New Fabians is Dr. William S. Allen, associate professor of history who was the object of a legislative attack in February by Rep. Bollinger and Rep. Howard Garrett, who also is a Jefferson County legislator and was with Bollinger Wednesday night.

They criticized the university for employing Dr. Allen and described him as a professed socialist.

Lightfoot said in his talk that the policies of the United States — communism or Chinese have made it the most-hated communism — a variety which nation in the history of man would not eliminate the right of free speech.

He said if the United States ever adopts communism it will be a different variety than Russia. Democrat-Capital Class Ads Are Workers You Can Afford To Hire! Dial TA 6-1000.

Ann Landers

Answers
Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: We have some close friends who are dog lovers. Last evening my husband was telling about our 8-year-old son's unusual interest in science. The dog lover interrupted to tell a story about her poodle. Three years ago, she said, the dog began to take on the personality characteristics of her husband.

"When Tom suffered business reversals and became depressed, too," she said. "He wouldn't eat a thing. Tom had to be hospitalized. That same day the dog had to be hospitalized because he had become so weak from malnutrition he could barely walk."

She continued, "Six weeks later Tom returned home feeling much better. When the dog was brought home he was still melancholy. Upon seeing his master improved the dog perked right up."

My husband and I believe that pet-lovers who become involved with their animals imagine all sorts of things. We can't buy her story. What do you think? — DOUBTERS.

Dear Doubters: Animals have distinct personalities. It is not uncommon for personalities to be influenced by what happens around them. I do not doubt this story for one moment.

Dear Ann Landers: This afternoon I glanced out the window as I was doing my dusting and I just happened to see the woman next door shaking my four-year-old son by the arm. I dashed out and ordered her to take her hands off my child. She shouted, "Bernard is always hitting my Albert and I'm not going to put up with it any longer."

Both children are four years of age, but my Bernard is a little bit larger than her Albert. I lost my temper and slapped the woman's face. She had metal curlers in her hair which caused a small cut on the side of her cheek.

The minute my husband drove into the garage my neighbor's husband was over here. He told my husband his wife was in bed with an ice pack and under sedation. He said his wife went to pieces after I hit her and they had to call the doctor. The last thing he said was, "There may be a law suit."

If a woman can be sued for protecting her child what kind of a country is this anyway? Please comment.—MRS. X.

Dear Mrs. X: The kids are four years old. What's YOUR excuse? Hitting people is called assault and battery and your lawyer can tell you more about the chances of a suit than I can. But apart from possible court action you owe this woman an apology, plus the price of the doctor's visit.

Dear Ann Landers: When I married my husband five years ago we were both in our middle 40's. Each year our marriage seemed to be rockier than the year before. I begged him to get professional help but his stock reply was, "I am all right. YOU are the one who is nuts."

Several months ago when my husband became abusive I packed up and left him because I feared for my life.

I haven't seen him for three weeks, but he telephones every day to say he loves me. He

WASHINGTON—Atty. Gen. Nicholas DeB. Katzenbach, appearing before a Senate Judiciary subcommittee Wednesday asked Congress to approve without delay a curb on mail order firearms. Possible Excise Tax Cuts Pose Problem To Merchant

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — How to keep the customers buying now instead of waiting to see what Congress does about cutting federal excise taxes is a current headache for merchants.

Congress may help by making the cuts retroactive to May 15 on more items than just autos and air conditioners, as President Johnson requested.

Some merchants and manufacturers already are taking newspaper ads to assure today's customers they'll get a refund on any taxes paid now that may later be cut or eliminated.

But in some quarters there are grave doubts that all of the tax cut will be passed along to customers in lower retail prices, either now or in the future.

And merchants also have to worry about what the tax cut will do to goods they've already stocked and hold in their warehouses. The excise tax levied at the manufacturer's level presumably already has been added to the wholesale price the merchant or dealer paid.

An added difficulty is that some tax cuts, as now proposed, would take effect July 1, others Jan. 1 — with the retroactive May 15 date, of course, affecting an as yet undetermined variety of goods.

An example of trouble here is in the proposal to cut the tax on cars to 7 per cent from the present 10 per cent effective May 15, and then to drop it to 6 per cent Jan. 1. What effect this would have on sales of the new models this fall is debatable.

Merchants and dealers have a couple of things going for them, however.

For one, Congress seems in the mood to act with unusual speed — thus lessening the period of suspense — and, if anything, to be more generous than the President in slashing tax rates.

For another, public reaction seems likely to set off a buying spree, once the uncertainties are cleared.

Forestalling a temporary buying strike is the problem. Both makers and retailers of jewelry, silverware, luggage, handbags, toilet articles and furs are urging that the 10 per cent retail tax, due to be eliminated July 1, be repealed as of May 15, so today's customers can be sure of a refund.

These retail excises bring the Treasury about $550 million a year. If all of the cut is passed along to the customers in lower prices, a selling boom is anticipated. And because of this prospect, the stocks of some jewelry makers and some chain stores are getting a ride in Wall Street.

Merchants face a refunding problem as well as the effort to keep the customers buying in the interim. The National Retail Merchants Association is urging its members to take inventory of air conditioners and other appliances as of May 15, and to keep records of all sales after that date. The paper work involved in refunding taxes paid while Congress deliberates could pile high.

The immediate problem is to make the public confident that if there are any slashes in retail prices as a result of excise tax cuts, the customer will be protected, by refunds or by allowances on instalment payment contracts.

Congress is being asked to help. But the real job is up to the retailer and the manufacturer. They must decide if all or part of the tax cut can be passed along. And theirs is the chore of getting this information to the customers, and making them believe it.

The flight, at subsonic speed, lasted an hour and 18 minutes. The Navy said that the plane "demonstrated its variable wing sweep capability

Ford Makes Some Headway In Changing GOP Concept

EDITOR'S NOTE — Last January, House Republicans, their ranks thinned by the massive defeat the GOP had suffered in the November election, voted to replace their veteran leader, Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, with a relatively new face, Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan. Here is an exclusive interview with the new leader on his four months in the job.

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Gerald R. Ford, the quiet-spoken former football player who runs the Republican party in the House, says he's making some headway in changing the picture of his party in the public mind.

"I hope I'm not too naive and idealistic, but I think if you do what is right the stature of the party in the long haul will be sound," Ford said in an interview.

"I don't think the party can sit back and just be consistently in opposition and wait for some catastrophe to come along and then try to pick up the pieces," he added. "You have to go along on the basis of doing what is right and earn the respect of the citizens of the country."

As examples, he mentioned Republican support of the voting-rights bill and backing President Johnson's actions in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic. On foreign policy, he said, "we're supporting him because he's right."

Ford told of an emergency meeting at the White House in the early days of the Dominican crisis. He said the President greeted him and said jokingly, "You and Ev Dirksen (the Senate Republican leader) are supporting me on foreign policy so much you may wind up with a Republican Congress." The President has been reported upset and disturbed by criticism of his policies by some Democrats in Congress.

Ford said he replied, "Mr. President, that isn't why we're supporting you, but if that's a fringe benefit we'll accept it."

Ford said in the interview: "supposing we were critical of his policies in the Dominican Republic and Viet Nam? I think the public would have an adverse reaction. In the first place all during the (1964) campaign we called for action that was comparable. We can't change our position now just for the purpose of opposition."

Ford is a shirtsleeved worker in the privacy of his ceremonial office in the Capitol. He and his aides have placed their desks so they can look up from their work and see a view down the center of the Mall that is so splendid it might be counted as another fringe benefit of his job.

When Ford took over the minority-leader position in January from veteran Charles A.

Halleck of Indiana, he announced that one of his goals would be to develop reasonable Republican alternatives to Democratic programs as they come up in Congress.

He thinks he has succeeded. The Republicans pushed a version of health care for the aged that was broader in some ways than the Democratic plan. The result was that the Democrats accepted part of the Republican proposal and put it in their own bill.

"I feel if they hadn't had a longstanding commitment to a payroll tax to finance it, they would have bought the whole Republican package," Ford said.

Another example of offering alternatives, he said, was a Republican plan for aid to elementary and secondary schools. Dropped by the wayside under seathing criticism by Democrats, it proposed to cut some federal taxes so local authorities could afford to raise local school taxes on a voluntary basis.

Ford acknowledged the GOP education bill "was not as sound on a broad basis as the others, but it had some good points."

A third example, he said, was the Appalachia bill, which Republicans tried to broaden to include any needy area in the country instead of just the 13-state Appalachia area. Democrats contended that would dilute the available funds so much they would be worthless. They defeated the Republican effort.

The Republicans also have proposed their own voting-rights bill, which Ford said is "strictly a House Republican product." Ford said he has not yet developed a firm position on the

Pediatrician Dies

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Dr. Otto M. Kurschner, 50, one of the nation's leading osteopathic pediatricians, died Wednesday. Kurschner held every major elective office in the American College of Osteopathic Pediatricians and served as president in 1956.

President's proposal to cut many federal excise taxes on goods ranging from cars to cosmetics.

But he noted that Republicans attempted on the floor of the House last year to do away with some of these taxes and were turned back by Democrats.

Ford said he thought "if we're going to take $4 billion off the revenue side, I think we ought at least to take a look at the possibility of cutting back some nondefense spending."

Proposed Legislation Is Cheerfully Killed

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) — A state representative has proposed that any member of the House who speaks longer than three minutes be "shot, stuffed and displayed in a glass case in the state museum."

The order, filed Wednesday by Rep. James S. Erwin, also stipulated that this legend be hung around the neck of such executed legislators.

"Here I am, fore'er enshrined, my mouth is open, my teeth are shined; my colleagues' treatment less than kind."

"I talked them all deaf, dumb and blind."

The proposal was cheerfully killed as soon as it was read.

Fighter Pilot

Officer Ready To Return To Viet Nam If Necessary

By HAL BOYLE

DA NANG Airbase, South Viet Nam (AP) — "It's the only war we've got."

That was the laconic reply of Capt. John O. Edelblute of Crown Point, Ind., when asked why he had volunteered for a third tour of duty in the Far East.

"I'm a career officer. This is my life. I'm a fighter pilot."

At 33, the captain is the oldest of four bachelors among the 25 pilots in the 615th Tactical Fighter Squadron. The squadron commander, Maj. James A. Minish, 36, of Yellowstone National Park, Wyo., says he is "one of the very best."

Edelblute's hot seat in the sky is an F100 all-purpose fighter plane which attacks its targets at a speed ranging between 400 to 600 knots. When he winds up his present duty tour June 1, he will have completed about 100 sorties and dropped or shot up to 250 tons of bombs, rockets and bullets at the enemy.

"I hope I'll get 30 days leave," he said. "I've got a new car at England Air Force Base in Louisiana waiting for me, and I'd like to catch up on my bass fishing."

"Then, if they want me to come back here for fourth tour, I'll pack my bag and come back."

Edelblute stands an inch over 6 feet, has brown hair and blue eyes, and is sturdily handsome. He has sweated off 20 pounds under the grind of heat and long hours.

He has had two bad blows to his spirit. His mother and father were killed in an automobile accident last April, and on a recent attack on a northern flak site his wingman disappeared.

"We don't know what happened to him. We never heard of him again."

As do most capable people, "Blute" speaks of his work with a straightforward matter of factness. He has flown every type of mission, day and night, and minimizes the three hits the enemy has made on his plane.

"I know I've got some flak sites," he said. "And I know I've missed at least one bridge."

"But it takes only from 30 to 50 seconds from the time you roll in toward your target until you start to pull out."

"When you're making a pass, you only have time to think about your airplane, your sight and that target. As soon as you release your bombs, you pull out and get out. Somebody else can tell you later where you've hit."

"You're likely to be knocked

Fred Woltmann Gives Program In Buncheon

The Rev. Fred Woltman gave devotional program May 12 for Ladies Aid of Buncheon Grace Lutheran Church, at the home of Mrs. Fred Bosau, Boonville. His subject was "The Secret Revealed—God Chooses a People of Old."

Mrs. Bosau, president, presided. Secretary's report was given by Mrs. John Schmidt. Mrs. Walter Schmidt gave treasurer's report. The meeting closed with repeating of the Lord's Prayer in Unison.

The afternoon was spent working on tea towels.

Refreshments were served to members, the Rev. M. Woltmann and guests, Mrs. Carl Bosau and Mrs. Henry Wassman, Boonville, and Johnny and Terry Schmidt.

The next meeting will be in June at Buncheon Park. Mrs. Floyd Hein and Mrs. John Schmidt will be hostesses.

Micronesia, a group of islands in the Pacific, so-called because of their small size, has been important to the world out of all proportion to many groups of larger islands. Yap and Guam were once vital Pacific cable links. Guam was a watering place for Spanish galleons. Truk was once a great Japanese naval base and the key to the Pacific.

down if you go back for a look yourself."

Some days he flies one mission. Some days two. There always is the possibility of a sudden night air support mission to help hard-pressed ground troops. Edelblute sleeps on the base. His only relaxation is a weekly trip into town to eat at a Chinese restaurant. He likes corn soup with crab.

This is how he feels about what he is doing.

"I just want the people back home to know that we are really in a war. This is not just a game over here.

"The work we have done is positive. I feel it is having its effect."

"Blute" takes quite a lot of kidding about his bachelor status.

He explains it this way: "The girl who marries me will have to marry the Air Force, too. So far I haven't found one willing to do both, although last year I thought I had."

Any girl who does say "yes" to Capt. Edelblute can be sure of two things — she'll be wedded to a fine officer as well as a fine Air Force. You'd think our girls would be standing in line for a chance like that, wouldn't you now.

WASHINGTON—Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La.) reflecting aloud about his first few months as Senate's new Democratic Whip, said it's a mixed blessing. "It means a lot more work but it has its rewards." The 46-year-old Long is the son of the late Huey P. (Kingfish) Long. (UPI Telephoto)

Write Legacy To People Of America

BOSTON (AP) — Samuel Eliot Morison wrote his latest book — a fascinating though hefty volume of 1,176 pages — as a legacy to the people of America.

And it is titled "The Oxford History of the American People" — "Because I wanted to write about the people for the people."

"I didn't want a textbook," he said in an interview. "because when you are doing that, somebody says 'Right here you ought to have something about banking' — well, nothing bores me more, so I don't have any chapter on banking."

Morison, retired 10 years ago as Jonathan Trumbull professor of history, emeritus, from Harvard, has been anything but idle. When he retired, he was at the halfway mark in his 15-volume "History of United States Naval Operations in World War II."

He got the naval history finished in 1962, a monumental task which had occupied him from 1946.

The new history "was written in longhand, every page of it, and then I tried it out by reading it to my wife," Morison said.

"When she liked it, I went ahead," he said. "That meant each page was revised about three times, and some as many as 10 times before they were in final form."

His wife, Priscilla Barton Morison, a transplanted Marylander who sat in on the interview in the book-filled library of their home at the foot of Beacon Hill, quickly disclaimed being a literary expert.

"I consider myself average," she said, "but I do have an ear for music, and I listened for the cadence."

Morison said he drew heavily on his own experiences in tracking down history, and on the advice of the experts in medicine, sports, horse racing, yachting, "either to help me directly, or to tell me where to look."

For his own part he was able to go back to his retracing of

P. Lanpher, 1264 South Murray, who was awarded the $1,500 Bothwell Hospital Nurses' Scholarship, and will enter Barnes Hospital School of Nursing, St. Louis; Miss Joan Gibbs, 1109 West Eleventh, daughter of Roy A. Gibbs and the late Mrs. Gibbs, who merited a $1,000 loan from the Susan Thomson Wilkerson Nursing Scholarship Loan Fund, and will enter Barnes also; Miss Kay Beth Sprinkles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Sprinkles, Route 4, who received a $500 scholarship loan from the Wilkerson fund, and will enter Burge Protestant Hospital School of Nursing, Springfield. the voyages of Christopher Columbus, and the travels of John Paul Jones — both of which resulted in Pulitzer Prize-winning books.

Many of his chapters conclude with the music and words of a song which fit with the era covered in the chapter. A sea chanteuse winds up the chapter about whaling.

"There would have been more," Morison said, "but some of the publishers didn't want to let go of their music for my history."

Jail Term, Fine For Highway Death

OLATHE, Kan. (AP) — Karl Duane Hicks, 25, was sentenced to a year in jail and fined $500 when he pleaded guilty Wednesday to negligent homicide charge in connection with a highway fatality.

Michael J. Craine, 18, of Jerico Springs, Mo., was killed on Jan. 21 when he was hit by Hicks' car.

Patrolman Ronald Zimmerman of the Olathe Police Department was injured.

Zimmerman had stopped Craine to warn him about a faulty taillight. They were talking when the Hicks car knocked Craine 110 feet and the patrolman 28 feet.

Hicks was charged with fourth-degree manslaughter but was permitted to plead guilty to the lesser charge. Judge Harold R. Riggs imposed the maximum penalty for negligent homicide.

Nets Want New Sports TV Shows

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — What network television wants — and needs — are some new organized sports, preferably ones with championship play-offs.

ABC, with understandable excitement, came up with a new one Wednesday: the national skateboard championship play-offs, which it will televise on May 29.

Roone Arledge, the network's vice president in charge of sports, explained that with television's passionate desire to cover exciting spectator games, "a great premium has been placed on all the very large, established sporting events."

In fact he estimates that "premium" is an over-all quadrupling in price over a four-year period for the TV rights to the important, popular sports — baseball, football, golf and a few others.

With all three networks interested, there is a frantic world-wide search for new, telegenic sports.

NBC got there fustest with the mostest cash for the Monte Carlo Rally and will broadcast the endurance auto race Sunday night.

ABC has nailed the Le Mans race for broadcasting June 19. Unfortunately, nobody will show the Indianapolis 500 — it is all tied up for a closed-circuit broadcast to theaters around the country.

Arledge has been offered — and regrettably turned down — such sporting events as the world's championship hair-styling contest.

ABC's search for vicarious crises in people's lives will lead to coverage of the Irish Sweepstakes Derby, (a famous event indeed, which few of the interested ticket holders have ever seen, on June 26 and the U.S.-Soviet track meet in Moscow at the end of July.

"With all the competition, TV has created a sort of sports monster," Arledge admitted. "But we're all learning to live comfortably with it."

Couldn't Collect

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) — Two Camden city policemen picked the daily double at Garden State Race Track worth $75.60 Tuesday, but they couldn't collect.

Patrolmen William Guidotti and Frank Senatore said they had placed a $2 daily-double bet with Helen McCaslin, 38, in downtown Camden. Then they arrested her for bookmaking.

Later they learned their selection, Blended White and Battling Erma, had won and was worth $75.60.

Mrs. McCaslin was held in $1,000 bail on a bookmaking charge.

'Minuteman' Testimony Made Public

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Robert DePugh, head of the "Minutemen" organization, took issue late Wednesday with FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, who described the group as a "paper organization whose numerical strength is probably greatly exaggerated."

Hoover told a House subcommittee in Washington that DePugh had estimated membership of the Minutemen at 25,000. The FBI director said "There is little real evidence that the Minutemen are anything more than essentially a paper organization with just enough followers over the country so they can occasionally attract a headline, usually because of their preoccupation with violence or weapons of war."

Hoover's testimony was made public this week.

DePugh said that if Hoover believes the Minutemen is a "paper organization" and does not have the more than 25,000 members it claims, "then that is a good indication the FBI has not penetrated our organization very far."

DePugh said he was aware some persons within the organization were passing information to the FBI, but said "There is nothing secret about such information as our plans and programs have always been open to the public."

The Minuteman leader, whose headquarters is in Norborne, Mo., said the organization has largely discontinued military field maneuvers and is "concentrating on intelligence and infiltration."

"Our investigation indicates this organization is a loose federation, with each unit acting independently and lacking any real central control," Hoover testified. "Its numerical strength is probably greatly exaggerated."

He said some of the things DePugh says "are indeed, hard to believe."

Minutemen, Hoover said, claim as their primary purpose preparation "to overthrow the government of the United States in the event the government is taken over by the Communists."

The FBI chief quoted DePugh as having said the Minutemen advocate armed resistance "only when it has become very apparent to all the people that Communists or Fascists have overtaken the government and all the people themselves are willing to support an armed revolution."

Beef, Pork Still Riding High Level

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chickens, turkeys and eggs may be especially popular with bargain-hungry food shoppers this weekend — not because they're much cheaper these days but because nearly everything else is more expensive.

Beef and pork are still riding at the highest wholesale price levels in months, and in the case of some cuts, in years.

For the second week, a national supermarket chain was unable to find any beef or pork cuts for reduced prices in its New York area outlets. Pork chops went up 10 cents to $1.09 a pound.

The chain put boneless turkey roasts on special at 79 cents a pound, however. The new roast is becoming increasingly popular.

Its California roasts at 59 cents a pound, boneless beef at 69, ribs at 79 and sirloin and porterhouse steaks at 99 were unchanged from the week before.

Eggs dropped slightly, with medium whites, for example, down 2 cents a dozen to 37.

Broiler chicken output is up again and for the year the increase is estimated at 3 to 5 per cent. Good supply may help lower prices at food markets.

Lamb and veal, not ordinarily considered bargain meats, are in normal supply and prices are holding steady. Some housewives might find this a good time to try them in place of pork and beef for a while.

Fresh vegetables and fruits have had their ups and downs this spring, but mostly ups. Wholesalers in the East report that about the only fresh vegetable to be found at a reasonable price is corn on the cob. Lettuce, carrots and potatoes all continue much higher than usual.

The late spring potato crop moves to market in three weeks and may trim prices.

Among the fruits, Hawaiian pineapples are reported to be a bargain in many food stores.

Other foods that have been cheaper in many food stores this spring are prunes, honey and rice.

Dun 1 Bradstreet's wholesale food price index jumped 3 cents to $6.18 this week, equalling the index of Dec. 7, 1960 and the highest since $6.19 on Feb. 1959.

Jane Fonda Is Carving Own Career

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) —With pouty face, long, taffy-hued tresses and hip-hugging pants, she looked like the latest movie star from France as she strolled down the steps to the Beverly Hills Hotel pool.

But when she spoke, the tones were not Left Bank but Eastern U.S. finishing school. She is Jane Fonda, daughter of that most American of film stars, Henry Fonda.

The French influence is no doubt the result of Jane's romance with the French people and, on a more personal basis, with Roger Vadim, the mentor and one-time husband of Brigitte Bardot. He has been visiting Jane here.

The second-generation actress, on a day off from the Marlon Brando film "The Chase," took a poolside table and talked about such things as France and being a second-generation actress.

If anything can improve our relations with France, perhaps it can be Jane. Reports from Paris indicate that she has been as well received as any American since Ben Franklin — well, Eddie Constantine, anyway.

"It's very simple: my father," she replied. "I knew he was popular, but I never realized what a hold he had on Europeans. He is loved everywhere, even in Russia, where 'War and Peace' and 'Grapes of Wrath' were very popular. They love him in France and other countries because he made social pictures.

"That admiration was naturally transferred to me. And I couldn't be more grateful."

Jane admitted there might be other elements as well, such as the fact that she didn't just pass through France. She stayed. She not only established herself in a Paris apartment; she bought a farm 45 minutes from the city and converted it to a home for herself. She still has both — as well as her own New York apartment and a rented house at Malibu.

"But I'm not an expatriate by any means," she added. "I still am very much American and will stay that way."

La Fonda made two pictures in France, but it remained for a basic American horse opera to shift her career into high gear. She stars in "Cat Ballou," a raucous, rip-snorting Western that has drawn as many critical huzzahs as any film in 1965 so far.

"It's quite a new experience for me," said Jane. "I've been in films that made money but got poor reviews. I've been in films that got good reviews but weren't well received. This is the first time I seem to be in a picture that gets both."

"I'm still a bit amazed. None of us thought the script offered much, and we weren't sure what we had when we finished. The picture only lasted 28 days. Apparently it has a quality that will pay off."

So does Jane Fonda, apparently. She is carving her own career without fighting the fact that she is daughter of a star. Far from it.

"Being Henry Fonda's daughter has done me nothing but good in this business," she declared. "I couldn't be more grateful."

India Begins 'Friendship' With Soviets

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India has opened what it hopes will be a new era of friendly and profitable cooperation with the Soviet Union. It could bring a steep decline in American influence and prestige in this nation of 480 million.

Already, Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri has toed the Soviet line by criticizing U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam without his recent balancing condemnation of all foreign interference in Viet Nam.

Shastri returned today from an eight-day visit to the Soviet Union proclaiming that India has Moscow's "sympathy and support" in many matters. This contrasted with widespread belief in New Delhi that India isn't getting this from the United States.

The U.S. image in India has been in trouble since President Johnson said last month he was going to be busy with the Viet Nam crisis and domestic affairs and asked Shastri to postpone a visit to Washington in June.

Many in New Delhi took this as humiliating, heavy-handed rebuke for Shastri's attitude toward the U.S. role in Viet Nam.

Before American diplomats here could put things right, another dispute developed, India charged Pakistan was using American military aid equipment against Indian soldiers in the Rann of Kutch.

Pakistan made the same charges against India. Washington reminded both governments that American military aid was to be used against communism, not against each other.

Being put in the same boat with their Pakistani enemies made the Indians angrier.

Indian newspapers reported in great detail how the Soviets laid out the red carpet. President Johnson was too busy, the newspapers pointed out, but Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin interrupted his schedule to accompany Shastri from Moscow to Leningrad.

Indian officials who returned home before Shastri reported the Soviets were planning to double trade with India in the next five years to about $840 million a year.

The Soviets were also said to have promised to double aid for the next five-year development plan to $840 million.

There were broad hints of long-term credits and military aid — perhaps tanks to match those America gave Pakistan, ships to strengthen India's rusting navy or even supersonic jet fighters which the United States refused to provide.

With such a package dangling before their eyes, many Indians found it easy to overlook the fact that Soviet aid so far is only one-sixth of the more than $6 billion the United States has poured into India.

No criticism was heard before that day, May 20, 1940, some cause the Soviets gave no public backing to India on two crucial issues.

One is India's quarrels with Pakistan over the disputed Rann of Kutch area and the Himalayan state of Kashmir.

The other is Indian criticism of Communist China's entry into the nuclear club.

Students Injured In Water, Mud Fight

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Four students at Washington University were injured Wednesday night during an hour-long water and mud fight.

About 300 students took part in the melee on the campus. Injured were Daniel Schifeling, 18; William Sample, 18; Miss Donna Goldman, 18, and Lewis Jay Stein, 18.

Schifeling dislocated a shoulder when he fell. Sample slipped after he was doused with water and broke an ankle. Stein was hit by a car while watching the battle. Miss Goldman's eye was injured by a mud ball.

Stein told police the car which hit him left the scene.

The battle began when girls started dropping water-filled balloons and pouring water from dormitory windows on men students. The men retaliated with a garden hose.

Closing for Holidays

Stores in downtown Sedalia will be closed Monday, May 31, for the Memorial Day observance and on Monday, July 5, for the Fourth of July observance, according to an announcement by C. J. Chapman, director of the retail merchants division of the Chamber of Commerce.

Cash Day Event Friday to Net Winner $250

Friday night will be a big night for the winner of the Cash Day award, if they are downtown to get it. The amount is $250 and the drawing will be held at 8 p. m. It is necessary to be in one of the participating stores to be able to claim the prize.

Last week Frank Buchanan, 912 West Seventh, was the unlucky winner, unlucky because the Cash Day award was $200 and his name was drawn but he wasn't downtown. Thus his $200 plus $50 more will go to the winner this week — that is, if he or she is in one of the stores at the time of the drawing.

Registration has reached more than 50,000 since it was started earlier this spring, according to Jim Reed, Cash Days chairman. Registration blanks are ordered in 25,000 lots, and the second 25,000 is already gone and more have been ordered. Anyone may register wherever they see the sign of a participating store.

The Cash Day merchants are made up of a group of downtowners.

wings will commence at Whiteman Air Force Base; Malmstrom, Ellsworth, Minot and Warren will follow in that order. Once the program is completed, the Air Force will have a total of 1000 operational Minuteman II missiles with the first Minuteman II wing now under construction at Grand Forks Air Force Base, N. D., and an additional squadron of 50 missiles authorized at Malmstrom Air Force Base.

Minuteman II is an improved model of this country's most advanced ICBM and, when completed, will have greater range, more powerful engines, and a more accurate guidance system.</

Crime: It Could Be Worse

Crime is violation of a public right, and may also involve violation of the rights of an individual. In a collective sense crime includes all grades of public offenses.

Statistics reveal that crime nationally shows a rapid rise. Areawise, for Central Missouri, we do not have at hand any revealing figures to show crime is rampant throughout our prairie land. Occasionally bank robberies like the one at Ionia or the holdup at Green Ridge cause some excitement for a time. Major crimes seem to be at a minimum, but there are a multitude of petty crimes in the misdemeanor classification. We read repeatedly about stolen bicycles and automobile hub caps, break-ins at coin-o-matic laundries, shoplifting and so on.

The situation is annoying enough locally. We hope it is restrained and minimized by alertness of the law enforcement agencies. This, if done, may retard those bent on committing major crimes which plague so many other communities.

It has been pointed out that the figures on crime tell a horrible story to the statistically minded, but little to the average person. For instance last year, to look at it another way, enough people were violently attacked in the streets and in their homes to populate the entire city of Shreveport, La. (170,000 population).

The number of people robbed equalled the entire adult population of a city of 150,000.

The number of people forcibly raped equalled the adult female population of a city like Fort Smith, Ark.

And if all the murders had occurred in one place, a town almost as big as Warrensburg or Chillicothe would be completely depopulated. Let's have a "teach-in" about this abhorrence.

If violence increases in our communities, then solutions will require increases in police forces and equipping them with more modern weapons and knowledge. A corollary to this is action by judges and juries to sympathize more with the law abiding and worry less about the welfare of the perpetrators of crime.

Furthermore, cooperation of the citizens will be necessary to look more carefully after their personal safety, to lock their doors, secure their automobiles and other property.

Failing this public order will approach chaos.

We hope such a condition never develops in Sedalia or among our neighbors in Central Missouri.

The World Today

The Monroe Doctrine-Teddy's Touch

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Monroe Doctrine of 1823 was a rather pallid piece of paper until President Theodore Roosevelt put some decorations of his own on it.

Since then the United States, on and off, has had troubles with Latin-American countries, including the Dominican Republic where rebels now are fighting a conservative junta.

President Johnson's efforts to get the Dominican people to agree on a coalition government with representatives from both sides would be one way of saving the United States from being tagged anti-rebel and pro-conservative.

It wouldn't be the first time the United States tried something like that in Latin America. But whenever it happened, just as now, it was intervention in the affairs of another nation. It's one of the reasons the Dominican people reportedly have been growing anti-American by the day.

The Monroe Doctrine simply told the Europeans to keep hands off Latin America without saying whether or not the United States would ever interfere.

Actually it butted into Latin-American problems for years, sometimes outrageously, which built up a long history of anti-American feeling.

But what the Monroe Doctrine failed to mention, President Roosevelt added.

When the Dominicans in 1905 couldn't pay their debts to the United States and a number of European countries, Roosevelt, to straighten them out, took over the job of collecting the Dominican Republic's customs duties, giving them some of the receipts, using the rest to pay off the debts.

He said, and he could say it and get away with it because the Latin Americans couldn't match U.S. power, that this country would intervene in their problems any time it pleased, as for example, when there were disorders.

But as the years passed and disorders in the Dominican Republic spilled over into revolution — Roosevelt was gone by then — President Wilson sent in Marines in 1916 and they stayed until 1924.

But there, as often elsewhere, American tutelage in democracy wasn't effective, whether or not Americans stayed a short time or almost two decades.

While the United States ran the show in the Dominican Republic it trained a constabulary or military force, sometimes called a national guard, headed by Gen. Rafael Leonidas Trujillo Molina.

(The Marines spent 19 years in Nicaragua and built up a constabulary there under Gen. Anastasio Somoza.)

Within a few years after the Americans withdrew from the Dominican Republic, Trujillo took over. His dictatorship, and it was about as total as any in Latin-American history, lasted 31 years until he was shot in 1961.

After the Marines left Nicaragua, Somoza took over and his dictatorship lasted 20 years until he was shot in 1956.

But, for that matter, the United States had quite a history of friendliness and support for dictators. In 1954, for instance, it decorated Marcos Perez Jimenez, the Venezuelan dictator, with the Order of Merit. He was driven out two years later and the United States gave him refuge in Miami.

This didn't add to American popularity, either. The rebels, fighting the conservative junta in the Dominican Republic, included all shades of thinking.

Johnson said the Marines were there to prevent a Communist takeover. Since the junta was conservative, this meant the Reds had to be among the rebels, and the effect was to make Johnson look anti-rebel and pro-conservative. He got a bad reaction in many places.

After a couple of weeks his administration, anxious to restore peace but undoubtedly equally anxious to avoid the appearance of preserving conservatives or reactionaries, sought to get both sides to agree to a coalition government. It didn't succeed. And, up to this point, it's stuck with the revolution.

We the Women

Don't Date Yourself

By Ruth Millett
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Millett

That word of wisdom was meant for the mature woman who is job hunting. But it's good advice for any woman who is no longer young.

The older woman who is always bringing her age into the conversation by such phrases as "at my age" or "if I weren't so old" or "when you've lived as long as I have" makes others conscious of her age and of its limitations.

That tends to set her apart from all those who are younger than she is.

It also has another bad effect. By constantly mentioning her age, she never lets herself forget it. And if you can't forget your age, you almost automatically start to limit the things you think you can do and that are proper for you to do "at your age."

An older woman who is very age-conscious will tend to dress in drab clothes that make her look older than she need look, because she is afraid that she will look ridiculous in brighter-colored, younger-looking clothes.

She will become more cautious about what she can do—thinking she can't travel alone "at my age," or live alone, or keep up an active social life.

She may even hesitate to make new friends, because "What's the use — at my age?"

And she all too often falls into the bad habit of speaking her mind when she should be more tactful because she feels that the old have a right to say what they please.

The less a woman thinks and talks about her age, the younger she seems — and the younger she really is in the ways that count.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Don't Kill Yourself Having Fun In The Sun

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Association

With nice weather, people naturally turn to outdoor sports. It is important to avoid overdoing them. Some people assume that if a little exercise is good, a lot must be even better. This is not true and can endanger health.

The least of these is the muscle soreness felt when a sedentary worker decides he must not waste a single minute of his weekend and goes out and plays 36 holes of golf or 10 sets of tennis in one day. More serious is the risk of getting a severe sunburn or putting too great a strain on the heart.

The athlete who engages in sports often has, through proper coaching, learned how to take care of his body in all seasons. Most of us are not in that class. We must work into summer sports gradually.

Other serious hazards of over-exertion in summer are heat stroke and heat exhaustion. Heat stroke comes on after sustained exposure to sizzling temperatures has caused the sweat glands to run dry. The victim first complains of headache and weakness. His skin becomes hot and dry and his temperature may reach 110 degrees.

Prompt lowering of the temperature is essential to prevent damage to the brain, heart, kidneys and liver and even death. The victim should be placed in a tub of ice water, if possible, and a doctor should be called. If he cannot be placed in ice water he must be cooled as rapidly as possible by whatever means are available.

In heat exhaustion the victim's skin feels cold and clammy. This condition is due to a depletion of salt and water through excessive sweating. The victim should be wrapped in a blanket. He should be given water to which salt has been added (1 teaspoon to a quart) only if he is conscious. Otherwise, trying to get him to drink will cause him to choke. He should also be under the care of a doctor until the emergency is past.

So, if you enjoy summer sports, you should play at least four times a week, if possible and not try to concentrate a whole week's exercise into one or two days over the weekend. If you can't get out during the work week to enjoy your sport, use moderation on the weekend.

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

J. E. Smith, probate judge, was elected president of the Sedalia Lions' club at a luncheon meeting in Kueck's Tavern. Other officers elected are: First Vice-President, R. H. Reed; Second Vice-President, Howard Robinson; Third Vice-President, Dan Robinson; Secretary, Cline Cain; Treasurer, Pat Kidd; Lion Tamer, R. Q. Henderson; Tail Twister, Glenn E. Neeley; Directors, Frank Wells, S. L. Highleyman and Vivian Kindred, past president.

FORTY YEARS AGO

At city council meeting a motion was made by Alderman Kell that the pay of members of the Sedalia police department be increased from $100 a month to $110 on the basis that the pay for working 12 hour days, Sundays and holidays was too low. The matter was referred to the police and finance committee.

— 1925 —

At a meeting of the official board of the First Methodist church plans for the remodeling and reconstruction of the church building were completed and ways and means to finance the great enterprise were determined upon. The total cost will be $35,000. Jacob Brandt is chairman of the finance committee and E. W. Dugan chairman of the building committee.

Teach-in Echoes Critics of U.S. Policy

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — On the surface, the historic, 15½-hour "national teach-in" on Viet Nam was a thing of rationality and balance. Both sides were heard in a "debate" on U. S. policy. Yet the appearance was illusory.

No one truly concerned with the vitality of American democracy would belittle an enterprise which drew 3,000 college professors and students to Washington on a warm spring Saturday. The announced purpose was commendable, and the display of energy and spirit admirable.

The results are another matter. This reporter watched the proceedings first-hand from beginning to end, most often as one of the "teach-in" audience. By their questions, their comment in the audience, their visible mood and their physical responses, the participants in overwhelming majority made plain they came seeking confirmation of their pre-Washington judgments that administration policy in Viet Nam is almost wholly wrong.

Contrary arguments, no matter how seemingly well-buttressed with fact, were generally greeted with skepticism, scorn and derision. Utterances which supported the views they brought with them were endorsed with smiles and warm applause.

When they broke up a half hour past midnight, there had been no vocal sign that any critic, whether professor or student, had changed his mind.

In the whole 15½ hours, I did not hear from the lips of any critic a single approving word about U. S. policy in Viet Nam or anywhere else. The government was portrayed as stupid, ignorant, arrogant, secretive and persistently wrong-headed.

The picture the critics gave of themselves as they spoke and responded to the debate was of individuals uniquely sensitive to the needs of the Vietnamese and other suffering peoples, better informed than the administration as to the facts of the conflict, confident we have no business in Southeast Asia, qualified to state categorically that a U. S. withdrawal from South Viet Nam would cost us little or nothing in a Cold War struggle they sharply deplore.

Attention to Canada

The red maple leaf on a white background now waves proudly over the Dominion of Canada, emphasizing Canada for Canadians on its own flag. But all is not well in that land across our northern border. The United States Embassy in Montreal has been attacked and Canadian Prime Minister Pearson has voiced his disapproval of our war in Viet Nam.

The French Canadians are unhappy and some of them would like their most densely populated province, Quebec, to form a separate government. Parts of Canada must be bilingual in order to shop, go to school, ride in a taxi, get medical attention or participate in government.

Canada is very important to the United States economically. There are many American business interests located there, as there are also Canadian business interests here. Canadian students come to the United States for their education; Canadian nurses and doctors work in our hospitals and Canadian preachers fill our pulpits. American tourists enjoy Canadian vacations while fishing and hunting or just seeing the mountains, the water ways or the quaint French villages. Commercial trade between the two countries is paramount to both.

Before unrest and dissatisfaction develop further north of our border, let us strengthen our common bonds. We are people akin in heritage. Our friendship must be continually nurtured because Canada, too, is our hemispheric neighbor.

The Mature Parent

There's No Easy Way Out

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
That marriage provides no easy out to the problem of illegitimate pregnancy is strongly suggested by a study reported at the annual meeting of the American Orthopsychiatric Assn.

The study of 45 marriages characterized by the wife's pregnancy to be the focus of conflict between the partners. One or both of the partners may suffer from depression, resulting from self-devaluation. One or both may experience feelings of "being trapped" by the marriage or of being robbed of their rights to an unhampered adolescence, to advancing education or social position.

One or both partners blame the other for the discomforts of situations in which they find themselves and develop mutual suspicion of being used and exploited. The husband or wife or both may engage in affairs in retaliation. Resistance to a second pregnancy may manifest itself. And a dissatisfaction with sex relations which are no longer illicit may be felt by one or both of the partners.

I urge parents to discuss these findings with adolescent children who entertain the romantic notion that marriage guarantees a happy ending to the problem of illegitimate pregnancy. It can no more be relied upon as an easy out than abortion or the forfeit of illegitimate babies to adoption agencies. These levy psychological hurts upon us from which we may not recover.

The truth is that there are no easy outs for young people who involve themselves in illegitimate pregnancy.

It is a truth with which we parents should acquaint our own young people. It is a truth they need if they are to avoid temptation to risk illegitimate pregnancy themselves out of inexperienced notions that there do exist happy ending solutions to it.

Often, as we open up talk on illegitimate pregnancy with young people, we immediately get from them expressions of great indignation at the meanness of the society which makes it such punishing experience. If we don't watch out, we get drawn into arguments on the "goodness" or "badness" of the world. Interesting though they may be, the arguments have nothing to do with the point we are trying to make. That point is: good or bad, the world young people live in does make illegitimate pregnancy a very painful experience by making it a problem to which there exist only very painful solutions.

MARGARET

DEAR POLLY — Perhaps some of the readers can help me. Some of my sheets and white blouses have red crayon marks on them. I do not know how the crayon got in the washer as I usually check all the pockets before doing the laundry. How can I remove these stains? The crayon went into the dryer and even stained the door of my dryer. Are my clothes ruined?—MRS. C. W. L.

Indeed we do hope your clothes are not ruined. Betty, my right hand helper, had the same problem not too long ago but with colored clothes. She just kept washing them after rubbing turpentine into the crayon marks. To clean the crayon out of the dryer her husband used shellac thinner on the inside and then washed it thoroughly. I do hope the same procedure will help you, Mrs. C. W. L.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Before laundering my husband's white wash and dress shirts I pretreat the heavily soiled spots, such as cuffs and collars, by gently rubbing with a piece of soapy nylon net. — MRS. L. H.

DEAR POLLY — I used the good hint Grace gave for winding yarn around a drinking straw until I came up with what I think an even better idea. I use the core from a roll of waxed paper. The larger center area prevents the yarn from binding as it sometimes does with the smaller drinking straw for a core. If you wind the yarn in a figure eight pattern, your yarn will hold more securely throughout the entire use of the ball.—LUCILE

DEAR POLLY — For so long I was not able to keep my 45-rpm record player free of dust but now I cover it with a plastic rain bonnet and it stays in better condition. I removed the ties from the bonnet, opened it out and spread it over the player.—MARGE

Chickens are the most widely distributed of domestic fowl and probably the most popular of all animals kept as food producers. They were known in China as early as 1400 B.C. The Romans found them well established in Gaul and among the Germans. Most likely, they did not reach the western hemisphere until Christopher Columbus brought them to the New World on his second voyage in 1493.

Four Still In Running

Unpredictable Big Eight Baseball Race Ends Friday

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

An unpredictable Big Eight baseball race comes to a close Friday and Saturday with four teams still mathematically in the title race and with almost every individual and team honor still up for grabs.

Missouri 12-5, Nebraska 11-5, Oklahoma State 11-7 and Iowa State 10-7 are the four teams that still have a chance for the pennant.

In the batting race, Kansas State's Stu Steele has a one-point edge over defending champ Steve McGreevy of Kansas, 440 to 439, with three others over 400. They are Bob Robben of Missouri 415, Dan Rudanovich of Missouri 404 and Tony Sellari of OSU 403.

Oklahoma State's Dick Frank jumped into the No. 1 spot in pitching with a 1.51 earned run average. Tim Van Galder of Iowa State is second at 1.53, teammate Bob Ziegler at 1.62 is third. Then come three Nebraska pitchers—Stan Bahnen 1.71, Bob Hergenrader 2.07 and Gary Niebauer 2.12 — and Colorado's Adrian Mohr 2.68.

Frank had the season one-game high of six runs batted in against Iowa State with a grand slam homer and two-run double.

The versatile Mohr is playing four positions at Colorado and leads the club in hits, RBI, total

Office Is Held Up As Cards Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There was excitement inside and outside Busch stadium at St. Louis Wednesday night—the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Philadelphia Phillies 7-6 in a furious ninth inning rally and two bandits held up a Busch stadium ticket office.

Dick Groat singled with two out in the ninth to send the winning run across after Ken Boyer had tied the score with a sacrifice fly.

Curt Flood and Lou Brock started the rally with singles after one man was out. Brock stole second and Mike Shannon walked. Then, Boyer flew out to the outfield and Flood scored the tying run.

Tony Gonzales and Johnny Callison hit home runs for the Phillies and Tim McCarver and Phil Gagliano countered with homers for St. Louis. Gagliano's homer was a pinch hit effort.

One of the bandits who took an undetermined amount of money from a stadium ticket office fired a shot in the air as he fled. The bullet came down inside the ball park grazing the neck of Carolyn Yount, 13. The spent bullet fell into her blouse. She was treated for the superficial wound at the stadium box office.

Carolyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Yount of Jennings, Mo., a St. Louis suburb, said she at first thought a ball had hit her.

Chris Short (4-3) starts for the Phillies tonight in their final game of the series at St. Louis. Bob Gibson (7-0) will pitch for the Cardinals.

Kansas City ended a Chicago White Sox nine game winning streak Wednesday night at Kansas City as the Athletics defeated Chicago, 7-3.

John Blanchard and Jim Bryan hit home runs in the second inning for Kansas City.

John O'Donoghue allowed four Chicago hits as he picked up his first victory since April 15. O'Donoghue retired 18 hitters in a row before Smoky Burgess homered for Chicago in the eighth inning.

Dick Tiger Is Favored Over Carter In Fight

NEW YORK — (P) — Nigeria's aging Dick Tiger is a 12-5 favorite to whip Rubin Carter in a 10-round battle of middleweight contenders at Madison Square Garden tonight.

The 35-year-old Nigerian and the 28-year-old slugger from Paterson, N.J., do have a couple of things in common. Both lost in close title fights to middleweight champion Joey Giardello and the two are burning to get another shot at the reluctant 166-pound ruler.

The winner may get a crack at pal Joey if former champion Sugar Ray Robinson or No. 1 contender Joe Archer don't get the chance first.

Tiger has been made the betting choice over the fierce-looking Jerseyite because of his superior boxing skill and stronger punching with both hands.

In his only outing this year, the stocky, former champion stopped flabby Rocky Rivero of Argentina in the sixth round on March 26. His record is 50-14-3, including 24 knockouts.

Carter, 3-2 for the year, has a 23-7 record, including 16 knockouts. He has been stopped once, by Joe Gonzalez two years ago.

bases, homers, earned run average, victories, strikeouts and innings pitched.

The consistent McGreevy needs just four hits to set a Big Eight one-season record of 33 hits. He shares the record with two men. While Robben Steele, OSU's Tony Stark and others flirted with 500-or-better and slumped, McGreevy has stayed over 400.

But no one has a shot at the conference record of 593 by Dan Reilly of Missouri in 1960. Oklahoma's Carl Schreiner still leads with five homers, but Robben leads the league with 20 RBI and a .738 slugging average.

McGreevy's eight doubles leads the league and Iowa State's Jerry Retzlaff is on top with 10 stolen bases.

Steve Renko of Kansas is the strikeout leader, with 1.59 per inning, and Oklahoma's Allen Gott has the best control mark, 1.63 on seven walks in 43 innings.

Missouri leads the league in almost every offensive category including team batting at .306, runs scored 120, hits 159 and homers 21. Nebraska has permitted just 41 runs, 34 earned for a 2.61 staff ERA. Iowa State has given up 60, only 32 earned for a 2.25 staff ERA.

The closing series find Missouri at Iowa State; OSU at Colorado, 7-9; Nebraska at Kansas, 8-10; and K-State, 4-12, at Oklahoma, 5-13. Doubleheaders are set for Friday, single games Saturday in every series except that at Iowa State, where it's the reverse.

Spahn Will Face Old Team Mates

MILWAUKEE (AP) —

Warren Spahn, baseball's ageless wonder now wearing No. 21 for the New York Mets, returns to the scene of some of his greatest triumphs tonight when he faces his old Braves teammates for the first time in Milwaukee County Stadium.

Sold to the Mets last fall after winning 356 National League games with the Braves in Boston and Milwaukee, Spahn considers his initial test against his former club "a major challenge."

"I realize we aren't in any World Series, but I want to do my best and look good in the city where I spent 12 wonderful years," the 44-year-old left-hander said.

"However, I may feel a little bit strange for a few seconds. It marks the first time in my life I've faced a former bunch of teammates."

Rated washed up by the Milwaukee management after a 6-13 record in 1964, Spahn has taken on a new lease of life as a player-coach with the Mets.

"If I had to leave Milwaukee, I couldn't have gone to a better club," he said. "I'm pitching 100 per cent better than last year and everything is wonderful. I'm really happy to be with Manager Casey Stengel. He's a grand old guy and has renewed my confidence."

In seven starts, Spahn has won three of six decisions and posted a 3.54 earned-run average. The winningest southpaw in baseball history, he will be shooting for victory No. 360 against the Braves. A triumph will boost him into a sixth-place tie with Kid Nichols among all-time winners.

Spahn's appearance is expected to attract the largest Milwaukee crowd since nearly 34,000 turned out opening day. A crowd of more than 10,000 is anticipated as fans temporarily relax an unorganized boycott of the Braves, who are headed for Atlanta after this season.

Gold Medal Winners Take Part In Meet

KANSAS CITY (AP) — At least five gold medal winners at the Big Eight track championships at Lincoln, Neb., will take part in the 3rd annual Midwest Track and Field Federation meet Saturday night at Shawnee Mission North stadium.

Four Arkansas Athletics and five from Wichita's Missouri Valley runners-up team also have entered the meet. A large group of high school standouts from Missouri and Kansas also have entered.

Entries have been received from Robin Lingle of Missouri, king of Big Eight milers the past two years; Kansas State's leader this season at 266-5½ Bill Floerke, national javelin leader this season at 266-5½ and Big Eight champ at 246-7; Gary Schwartz of Kansas, winner of the discus at 170-9 at Lincoln; Steve Herndon of Missouri, high jump winner at 6-8¼, a scant one-fourth inch off the meet record; and Glenn Martin of Kansas, triple jump champion at 48-10¼ at Lincoln.

In addition, entries have been received from 38 place winners at the Big Eight meet. John Lawson of Kansas, who set a Big Eight three-mile record of 14:09.6, wasn't present when Coach Bill Easton filled out the Kansas entry. However, Reeves Peters, former Big Eight executive director and president of the Missouri Federation, said he was confident Lawson would enter.

Jim Mace, an outstanding hurdler and jumper, Barry Bearden, a 15-7 pole vaulter, and Ed Renfrow, with the high hurdles best of 13.9, are the best in the Arkansas group.

Cal Elmore, Missouri Valley conference mile champion, heads the Wichita group.

Freshmen and transfers will be eligible for the meet. In this group are Gene McClain of Kansas, a 4:10 miler and a 1:52 half miler, Terry Tompson, Missouri.

Jim Ryun of Wichita, Kan., East High, national mile prep record holder with an amazing 3:58.3, probably will skip the meet to prepare for three big AAU meets coming up on the West Coast. If Ryun does make the trip, he'll probably limit himself to the half mile.

The Midwest federation will help Kansas, K-State and Missouri prepare for the National Federation meet June 11-12 and the NCAA championships June 17-19. Oklahoma and Oklahoma State will compete Saturday in the Oklahoma Federation meet at Norman. Colorado will be in the Colorado State Invitational.

Because of NCAA boycott against AAU events, Big Eight athletes will pass up the Missouri Valley AAU meet Saturday at Washburn in Topeka, Kan. Last year the two meets also were held the same night, the Big Eight athletes split between the two and AAU marks were a little better.

Twins Talk Trade: Seek A Pitcher

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Minnesota Twins are talking trade, apparently in an effort to bolster their relief pitching.

The Los Angeles Angels would like to know why.

The Angels saw four Minnesota relievers Wednesday night but not too many of their pitches, collecting only two hits in 7.23 innings as the Twins swept a doubleheader 3-1 in 12 innings and 3-1.

Before the twin bill, Twins' President Cal Griffith revealed that he had been discussing a trade with Kansas City.

The Twins, naturally, would like to get a top reliever of the caliber of Kansas City's John Wyatt, but that four-man relief parlay they threw at the Angels in the opener got the job done about as effectively as it can be.

Dave Boswell, the Twins starter, allowed only two hits and then Jerry Fosnow, Al Worthington, Bill Pleis and Dick Stigman went him one better by holding the Angels to one hit over the final six innings.

Then, in the nightcap, Jim Grant needed help, so Worthington came on again and allowed just one hit over the last 1-2-3 innings.

It was a pitchers' night all around the American League with Cleveland's Sam McDowell checking Baltimore 2-0 on three hits, Detroit's Denny McLain stopping Washington 4-0 on four hits, Boston's Jim Lonborg allowing only four in a 3-0 victory over the New York Yankees and Kansas City's John O'Donoghue snapping the Chicago White Sox' nine-game winning streak with a four-hit, 7-3 triumph.

The Twins won the opener in the 12th when Zoilo Versalles and Sandy Valdespino singled, moved up on a long fly by Rich Rollins and scored on Tony Oliva's single. Albie Pearson's homer accounted for the Angels' run.

In the nightcap, Jerry Zimmerman's single drove in the first run in the second inning before Zoilo Versalles tripled and scored the decisive run in the fifth on a single by Jerry Kindall.

While McDowell, now 3-2, was handcuffing the Orioles, the Indians nipped Steve Barber for four singles and both their runs in the fifth and sixth innings.

Max Alvis' infield hit, a sacrifice and Chuck Hinton's single got the first run across before Alvis singled across the other in the sixth after Leon Wagner collected a hit and advanced to second on a walk.

McLain, now 1-2, got the only runs he needed to beat the Senators when the Tigers jumped on Bennie Daniels for two runs in the fifth inning.

A walk and singles by George Thomas and Don Wert — the first hits off Daniels — produced the first run before McLain delivered a run-scoring single. Two Washington errors helped Detroit to two more runs in the seventh.

Lonborg, now 2-2, beat the Yankees for the second straight time with the aid of rookie teammate Rico Petrocelli, who stroked two key doubles, drove in one run and scored another.

The victory went to reliever Bill McGool, who took over for Jim Maloney in the seventh.

S-C Tigers Face Southwest High

The Smith-Cotton baseball team, awaiting its trip to Busch Stadium and a shot at the state title, will face Southwest High, St. Louis on Friday May 28, in St. Louis.

Southwest, which defeated Rolla 9-2, Wednesday, to advance to the semi-finals, is regarded by most area coaches as the toughest competitor in the state. Its teams have come up with the city championship of St. Louis in four of the last five seasons.

Southwest High, incidentally, is the high school Smith-Cotton's baseball coach, Earl Finley, attended.

The other two title contenders are St. Charles, which defeated Rolla 9-2, Wednesday, and Crystal City, which won over Licking, Mo., 3-1, Monday.

The Tigers have taken the last few days off from practice and will resume their workouts Thursday afternoon.

Coach Finley said, "It looks as if the coaching these boys received years ago when they were in the Babe Ruth League and even the Little League is beginning to show itself. Probably, if it hadn't been for this training early in life, we would not be where we are now."

Enthusiasm generated by the Tigers' recent victories is evidenced among S-C students. When acting-principal, Walter E. Diehl announced that a bus would be chartered to St. Louis provided 70 students expressed a desire to attend the games, it took less than one school day for 120 to sign up.

The fans now have the problem of securing another bus driver since a second bus must be taken. Otherwise the first 70 will be the only ones able to go.

Diehl said that the roofers would leave at 7 a. m. Friday, May 28, and arrive in St. Louis about 11:30. Sightseeing trips may be undertaken until game time at 2:30 (Sedalia time). After the game, the bus would leave for Sedalia about 6:30 p. m. Friday and arrive home about 10:30.

Should the Tigers win their semi-final clash, another bus trip would be organized for Saturday's championship game, provided enough were willing to go.

According to the tournament rules, the two losing teams in the semi-finals are each declared third place winners and both receive a trophy without further competition.

Connie Mack League's officials will hold a meeting Monday, 7:30 p.m., Liberty Park, in order to draft players moving up from Babe Ruth to Connie Mack, it was announced this week.

All managers, sponsors and members of the board of directors are requested to attend the meeting.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Belton Athletics showed up for a suburban Midget League baseball game Wednesday night with a mascot—a midget Abyssinian mule dubbed Charley-O Jr., of course.

Charley-O Jr., the mascot of the Kansas City Athletics, and never scarce.

Alas, the Belton Athletics also emulated the Kansas City Athletics otherwise. The Belton Indians beat them 34-1.

Way Back When . . .

THE SEDALIA MERCHANTS had a good day Sunday, according to reports of the game which appeared the day after. The locals had ousted the Jefferson City Red Birds 4-3 in a game here after ten innings of play.

Hornor was on the mound for the locals, and iced his own cake by bringing the winning run across home plate himself.

IN A SPORTS roundup column of that day, May 20, 1940, someone noted that photographers found Van Mungo of the Dodgers to be the most photogenic guy in baseball. Casey Stengel, on the other hand, was said to be the most photogenic. Deceiver that one!

MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL action saw both St. Louis teams putting victories on the scoreboard, with New York going down 6-5 in the National League (in ten innings) and Philadelphia losing 10-4 in the American.

They sure made the fans happy that year.

Nicklaus Worried By Course

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — There is little Jack Nicklaus has not done in his four years as a professional golfer, but he's finally run into a course that gives him nightmares.

"I hope I'm getting all this out of my system today," Nicklaus said as he shot a miserable round in the pro-am of the $60,000 Memphis Open Wednesday.

"There is just no reason for this," he said after he missed one of many two-foot putts. "I've seen beginners play better than this."

Despite the round and the fact that he's never played well on the short, par 70 Colonial Country Club course, Nicklaus was installed the favorite to take the $9,000 first-place money.

In the pro-am, Nicklaus shot a 43 on the par 34 front nine but was two-under par with a 34 on the par 36 backside.

A field of 144 was set to tee off today in the Memphis Open.

The 6,466-vote course has whipped Nicklaus both times he's played in the Memphis Open. He finished 11th in 1963 and tied for 12th in 1964.

Also attracting a lot of attention Wednesday was defending champion Mike Souchak and young Bill Martindale, who finished in a tie for second Sunday in the $100,000 New Orleans Open.

Another man who will bear watching is the New Orleans winner, Dick Mayer, who at 41 has started a sensational comeback after sitting on the sidelines for seven years.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I just want to be alone for a while on the ocean," says a trim divorcee who hopes to become the first woman to sail alone to Hawaii.

State Plan To Expand Big Leagues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six congressmen, two each from New York, Texas and Wisconsin, have proposed that four more cities be granted major league franchises and that baseball be reorganized into three eight-team leagues.

The request came Wednesday in the form of a letter to Commissioner Ford C. Frick, National League President Warren Giles, American League President Joe Cronin and the 20 big league owners.

Signing the letters were Reps. Thaddeus J. Dulski, D-N.Y.; Richard D. McCarthy, D-N.Y.; Earle Cabell, D-Tex.; James C. Wright, D-Tex.; Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., and Clement Zablocki, D-Wis.

They suggested the granting of franchises to Buffalo, Dallas-Fort Worth, Milwaukee and a fourth city ready to qualify. The teams would be organized in time for the 1966 season and be distributed among three eight-team leagues.

In New York, Frick said he had received the letter, but would not comment until he had answered it.

Buffalo has an International League franchise, Dallas-Fort Worth plays in the Texas League. The Milwaukee Braves of the National League will move to Atlanta for the 1966 season, leaving Milwaukee without a team.

Freeze Strawberries—Sugar Pack

Select firm, ripe strawberries—about 2/3 quart fresh berries are needed for each pint frozen. Wash berries a few at a time in cold water. Lift berries gently out of water and drain. Remove hulls; then slice into bowl or shallow pan. Sprinkle sugar over berries—3/4 cup to each quart (1-1 1/2 pounds) berries. Turn berries over and over until sugar is dissolved and juice is formed. Pack berries in container, leaving 1/2-inch head space in the wide-mouth pint box. Place a small piece of crumpled parchment paper on top of berries. Press berries down into juice. Press lid on firmly to seal. Be sure the seal is watertight. Label package with name of fruit and date frozen. Freeze; then store at 0 degrees F. or below.

Freeze Pineapple

Select firm, ripe pineapple with full flavor and aroma. Pare and remove core and eyes. Slice, dice, crush, or cut the pineapple into wedges or sticks. For unsweetened pack, pack fruit tightly into containers without sugar. Leave 1/2-inch head space. Seal and freeze. For sirup pack, pack fruit tightly into containers. Cover with 30 per cent sirup made with pineapple juice if available, or with water. Leave head space. Seal and freeze.

Syrup for Freezing Fruits

Two cups sugar and four cups water makes 30 per cent sirup and yields five cups. Two and one-half cups sugar and four cups water makes 35 per cent sirup and yields 5 1/3 cups. Three cups sugar and four cups water makes a 40 per cent sirup and yields 5 1/2 cups. Four and three-fourths cups sugar and 4 cups water makes a 50 per cent sirup and yields 6 1/2 cups.

Use of Herbs, Spices, and Seasonings

Use imagination, courage and a light touch. For the many vegetable dishes, where butter or white sauce is a natural for the distribution of additional flavor, add the seasoning before combining with the vegetable. A bit of thyme, rosemary, chives, mustard seed, lemon juice, dill seed, or oregano would make an excellent seasoning for many vegetables.

A favorite for tomatoes is basil. A bit of horseradish and a dash of cayenne in a white sauce is excellent for seafood or broiled beef. A bit of curry and chopped almonds to a white sauce is the base for curried chicken. A dash of cloves and orange juice with butter makes an excellent sauce for cooked parsnips. Sour cream, whipped cream, or dessert topping with a bit of nutmeg, cinnamon, mace, ginger, allspice or cloves makes a tempting topping for pies.

Glaze a roast with jelly spiced with cinnamon, ginger, nutmeg, or grated orange and lemon peel for a change. Try adding 1/4 teaspoon of a spice to each pound of meat or pint of sauce or soup when you have no recipe calling for a particular spice. For the very "hot" spices start with 1/8 teaspoon.

Use a "light touch"; too much of any seasoning destroys the illusion you are trying to create. It is always easier to add a bit more than to remove an overdose.

Ground spices give up their flavors quickly. When used in a long-cooking type of preparations, they should be added near the end of cooking time. In shorter time preparations, they are added at the same time as salt. In uncooked dishes, such as salad dressings, they are added and left standing for several hours to develop flavor.

Whole spices are especially good for long time preparation, such as pot roast. They are added at the beginning of a cooking period, many times tied in cheesecloth and removed at the point where the flavor has developed sufficiently.

Whole herbs should be crumbled finely just before they are to be used, to release their full flavor. Remember, dried herbs are 3 to 4 times as strong as fresh ones.

Choose a leading flavor and blend one or two other flavors with it—not equal amounts of all. Blends should be so subtle that only experts could tell which herbs are used.
